

PACIFIC PANORAMA

A design that incorporates stunning ocean views – complete with magical sunsets – makes Malibu Beach Inn a perfect coastal retreat

Positioned on an exclusive strip of California coast nicknamed ‘Billionaire’s Beach’, Malibu Beach Inn offers elevated luxury in a naturally beautiful setting. With the Pacific Ocean a key focal point, each of the 47 rooms and suites has a private ocean-facing balcony – allowing for dreamy sunsets over the fine sands and lapping waves.

The design was given a top-to-bottom makeover by world-renowned interiors expert Waldo Fernandez, featuring custom furniture by the Cuban designer, but remains sympathetic to the beach-front location: large windows showcase the ocean views, while white oak and blue-grey furnishings create a soothing feel in the rooms and communal spaces, including the serene spa.

Food lovers will relish the seasonal menu in CBC restaurant, with chef Ryan Caldwell at the helm. Its flavours are inspired by the Mediterranean and Pacific coasts, from sea bass a la plancha to fresh oysters with red wine shallot mignonette. Many of the ingredients are sourced from Malibu’s biodynamic farm One Gun Ranch, while the restaurant has won four consecutive Wine Spectator Awards for its fine wine collection. After dinner, relax on the terrace directly over the Pacific Ocean with a cocktail crafted by the restaurant’s award-winning mixologist.

This part of southern California is also doing well following the Woolsey Fire last year, with tourism a key part of the area’s recovery.

Mountain hiking trails are minutes away from the hotel, while the ocean offers a wealth of watersports. Beverly Hills and Santa Monica are also just a short drive away. With such convenient access to some of LA’s most renowned destinations, combined with top-tier design, ocean vistas and personalised, impeccable service, this is the ideal location for an unforgettable Californian escape.
